

Counsellor

- Can you spare a few hours a week?
- Do you have any experience working with people who have been bereaved?
- Do you have counselling qualifications and experience?

Bereavement Matters – the St Albans & District Bereavement Network professional counsellors work with bereaved adults to help them come to terms with the loss of a relative or significant person in their lives. Our current team of counsellors come from a wide variety of backgrounds and experience including those with experience of working with adults, health professionals and retired professionals.

Bereavement training is given to all counsellors joining our organisation and we offer on-going support and development opportunities to our team of staff and volunteers.

Skills and Qualifications

You will have an Advanced Diploma level qualification in counselling and experience working with adults, or as a health professional/retired professional.

We do not usually accept anyone who has experienced bereavement in the last 2 years.

About Us

Bereavement Matters – the St Albans & District Bereavement Network is an independent local charity providing bereavement support to adults, families and young people living in the St Albans and Harpenden area. Our aim is to help anyone in the local community regardless of creed, culture, age or gender, in need of bereavement support.

St Albans & District Bereavement Network Volunteering Opportunities 2016

We have 3 part time staff, 14 professional counsellors and around 60 active volunteers. Services are coordinated from our rented premises in Catherine Street, St Albans. At any one time we are supporting up to 65-70 clients.

For more information please contact St Albans & District Bereavement Network by telephone: 01727 841914 or by email: admin@sabn.org.uk